The first clinical trials at the Provincial Oncology Clinic were carried out as early as 2010 (then as the Regional Oncology Centre) in the field of non-small cell lung cancer.

In 2012, a study in the field of melanoma was launched, while currently most clinical trials are conducted in breast cancer.

As a place of research, the Oncology Clinic is constantly developing; highly qualified Research Teams and experience in managing oncological patients have a chance to provide the most modern treatment methods for patients from the entire region and beyond.
